Minpunten

- Each chair can be slightly different

Is there anything even cuter than this toddler chair from Malawi?

The reed with which the chair is woven is harvested around Lake Malawi.

Then it is dried in the sun.

Each Malawi chair is woven manually, which is why each chair may look slightly different.

Making these chairs is a craft that is passed on from generation to generation.

It is often the farmers who weave the chairs themselves, between the different sowing and harvesting seasons.

Each chair is made sturdy with a base of gum wood legs.

It can really take a beating and is lightweight to move.

The natural look is beautiful in any interior.
